

Brief Curriculum Vitae

Konstantinos Aivaliotis is Assistant Professor at the Cultural Technology and Communication department of the University of Aegean. His work and academic interests focus on film festivals and film markets, direction and script writing on creative and ethnographic documentary, via an interdisciplinary approach holding degrees in Socio-cultural and Visual Anthropology and Anthropology of Education.

He has produced two (2) feature-length documentaries, more than twenty (20) short documentaries and directed four (4). From 2008 to 2016 he was programmer at the Athens IFF and from 2017-2020 he served as Director of Promotion at the Greek Film Centre. Today, apart from his academic position, he is the co-founder and director of the Ethnofest organization and its titular festival, and Regional Project Manager at Thessaloniki Locarno Industry Academy and Agora Lab of the Agora and Thessaloniki International Film Festival.